Summary

How many officers do we need?

Details

I think we should ensure that next academic year AberSU reviews the roles and responsibilities of our Full-Time Officers. I have spoken to other Unions with similar student populations to ours (of roughly 8000) and most have fewer officers but still comfortably manage to share the workload between them. Considering the current changes to university experiences and priorities I think now is a really important time to reevaluate the team to ensure we continue to support all students in the best way we can. Doing this research will also help us decide if officer wages are the most impactful way for AberSU to spend its money whilst ensuring then Union delivers on its promises to students.
